

What is Bread Board?

Breadboard is used for temporary construction of circuit before making a PCB prototype. Breadboard connections are held by friction, and the breadboard can be reused many times. However, a breadboard is not very suitable for prototyping that needs to remain in a set configuration for an appreciable period of time. Mechanical vibrations or loose contacts may cause failure of circuit's function.

dmohankumar.wordpress.com