

What is Perf Board?

Most experimenters are familiar with "Perf board" which is a pre-drilled circuit for creating prototypes of simple circuits. It's not too expensive and for more easier to get started with than etching PCB's. The components are mounted by inserting the leads through the most appropriate holes then are wired on the back side, usually by bending the leads over to the desired connection point.

dmohankumar.wordpress.com